STATE OF THE CITY PRESENTATIONS EXPANDS REACH

Growth includes relocation, increased personnel

Apple Valley, California: State of the City Presentations, a company providing presentation and videography services for municipalities throughout California, is growing by leaps and bounds. The company recently welcomed new members to its team and opened the doors to its new location in the Town of Apple Valley. Creative Director Sam Thatte says his company's growth allows it to further bolster its client list.

"Our capacity to serve a large number of cities was limited by space and resources," Thatte explains. "By moving into a new location, and adding additional talented staff, we've increased our productivity and our ability to serve more customers. In the past, we've had to turn away potential clients due to a lack of resources. Today, we're better prepared to take on more projects." The new location features an open floor plan with large windows and inclusive, collaborative workspaces. With easy access to freeways and Ontario International Airport, staff has the ability to travel to cities across the region.

About State of the City Presentations

State of the City Presentations offers unique presentations to cities, towns, and associations. Just as the president of the United States gives an annual state of the union address, mayors and other leaders of most cities give a state of the city address every year. State of the City Presentations helps communicate a city's successes and challenges and share their goals for the future with residents through powerful speeches, engaging videos and memorable presentations.
